MRS. ROSE CARRINGTON LAID TO REST

The Congregational church was filled with sorrowing friends of the late Mrs. Rose Carrington who gathered to pay their last respects to her mortal remains last Monday. Mrs. Carrington passed away at the home of her son, Prof. O. M. Carrington on Whipple avenue late Saturday after a long illness.

Mrs. Carrington's death was hastened by grief over the death of her husband, who passed away only a short time before. The two were friends together in their home in Iowa, and with two other friends, came to California together, more than fifty years ago. Mrs. Carrington was the first of the four to be taken and her loss was severely felt by her friends.

Mrs. Carrington was well known and liked by all who knew her. She was an active member of the Congregational church and also belonged to the church choir. She was 78 years of age and is survived by her son, O. M. Carrington of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. Christine Alvarado of San Francisco. Her husband, John Carrington, passed away about thirteen years ago and a son, Carrol Carrington, also preceded her to the grave.

The services last Monday were conducted by Rev. R. J. Currie and were followed by interment in Cypress Lawn.

TREBLE AND BASS CLEFS TO GIVE "CHERRY BLOSSOM"
The Bass and the Treble Clefs, the boys and the girls' musical societies of the Sequoia Union High School will give the three-act opera, "Miss Cherry Blossom" at the high school auditorium on Saturday evening, January 24.

Rehearsals are now proceeding under the supervision of Prof. O. M. Carrington, and the school orchestra, directed by Prof. Gaylord, is practicing to accompany the opera. This will be the first opera in which the music will be furnished by the school orchestra.

The setting of the play is in Japan, where Marie Haurat as Miss Cherry Blossom, an American orphan raised by Kokemo, a Japanese, considers him her father and is ignorant of her real nationality. The plot of the play centers around the desire of Kokemo to marry Miss Cherry Blossom to Tokyo, a wealthy politician, played by Robert McKee. The young lady, however, has other aspirations and is in love with John Henry Smith, an American, played by George Cleece.

Other roles are those of Gladys Palmer as Jessie Vandrop, and Gilbert Findlay, as Henry Foster Jones. The part of the villain is taken by Burton Cairns as Worthington, formerly private secretary to Cherry Blossom's father. The Bass and Treble Clef sing the choruses.

MISS UNO CHAPIN AND ARNOLD VAN ESPERN WED
At a pretty wedding at Mt. Carmel Catholic church Wednesday at high twelve Miss Una Chapin became the bride of Arnold Van Espen. Rev. Father C. E. Kennedy performed the nuptial ceremony. The wedding was of a private nature with only the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties present.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Amy Chapin and the late Dr. J. E. Chapin of this city. She is a recent graduate of a secretarial school in San Francisco and has been holding a position since her graduation with the Mercantile Trust Company of that city. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Chapin.

Van Espen is a recent arrival in Redwood City, having come from his home in Wisconsin, some two years ago. He is now employed in the Ford Garage of this city. John Jensen acted as best man.

Following the ceremony the young couple left for a honeymoon south. Upon their return they will make their home in Menlo Park.

Pioneer Justice Passes Away

A long and active career closed last Wednesday in South San Francisco with the passing of Judge Ebenezer Cunningham at his home in South San Francisco. With his passing one of the most picturesque lives of this section has come to an end.

Born in 1839 in Missouri, he spent most of his boyhood in Iowa, and at an early age removed to the territory of Nebraska. Here he was at the opening of the Civil war, and at the age of 18 he enlisted in the Union army. In the service of his country young Cunningham distinguished himself. He was given the rank of a commissioned officer and was wounded in the struggle.

He came to California while the mines were yet the main industry of his state, and took an active part in the pioneer times of California. In 1892 he took up his residence in South San Francisco, where he has remained since.

Since coming to this county, Judge Cunningham served fourteen years as postmaster of South San Francisco, four years as justice of the peace, and was elected for two terms as recorder of South San Francisco.

The funeral of the old pioneer will take place this morning from All Souls church, where a requiem high mass will be celebrated. Interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

Frank, who had started the business. While Mr. Frank has never resided in Redwood City he has always taken a deep interest in the welfare of the community.

The company of which he is head has for many years been the leading commercial organization of town and it has given employment to many of the men who have been the most prominent citizens of Redwood City.

SEQUOIA CAGE TEAMS TWO GAMES FROM CAMPBELL
By Dallas Colina
Sequoia Union High School High School defeated the Campbell High School team by a score of 10 to 11 last Friday evening at Campbell. Sequoia got off bad at the start, fumbles and interceptions ruined their cross-play. Up until the last few minutes of the first half Campbell was leading Sequoia who was unable to score. Hallett scored a close shot and Chew sunk a field goal and the half ended 10-5 in favor of Campbell.

The game started with a bang. Ed Lawler of Sequoia led in the lead, which led to the end until the close of the game when the score stood Sequoia 11, Campbell 10.

The unlimited teams of the same schools played a fast and rough game. Captain Foley and his men from Sequoia showed a marked improvement over their former work. Driven played in the last quarter Jordan guard. Sequoia sunk four field goals. The score ended 18-27 in favor of Sequoia.

Henry for the construction of a building in the north end of the city, the understanding was that the building should be two and a half feet from the property line, according to a complaint filed in the county clerk's office. FIRST SHIPMENT OF CEMENT THIS WEEK

With the shipment this week of eleven carloads of cement from the local plant of the Pacific Portland Cement Co., the first shipment from the new factory was made. This represents only a small portion of the material which has been manufactured at the local plant. The greater portion will be shipped later.

In the manufacture of cement, the content of the mixture is first roasted to clinker, and the clinker is stored for a long period to "cure" by the action of the air. The first shipment then consists of the material which was roasted when the factory was first opened.

The kilns of the plant have been kept going continuously for the past few months, and enormous quantities of clinker will soon be ready for grinding. The company will then be making large shipments every day.

NEW BOSS IN HOME OF REDWOOD CITY'S MAYOR
A mayor may rule the town, as the old rhyme goes to tell, but when there's a son in the home of the mayor, it is well known who rules the mayor. Such is the case with the presiding officer of Redwood City's board of trustees, for a young son made his appearance into the world last Sunday morning.

The little stranger, who first saw the light in the Mills Memorial hospital in San Mateo, has been named Henry Hart Boeger. It is reported that upon being told he had a son that Henry ordered a larger hat and had the buttons of his vest moved over to the edge.

MENLO RESIDENT PASSES
Miss Margaret Murray, for many years a resident of Menlo Park, passed away at her home there early yesterday morning. She settled in Menlo Park with her brother and sisters about forty years ago and has been a resident of that place ever since.

Miss Murray was well known and loved in Menlo Park for her many acts of kindness to those in need. When sickness or disaster came to a Menlo family Miss Murray was called for and always responded without stint of her own time or effort.

She deceased was over eighty years of age. She is survived by a brother, Charles Murray, and a sister, Alice Murray; another sister, Ann Murray died some years ago. The funeral will take place Monday morning, January 19, under the direction of the James Crowe Company of this city. Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 Monday morning at the Church of the Nativity. He is eminently fitted for his new position, as he was for a number of years an attorney for the claims department of the various railroads and so known all of the legal aspects of the cases common carriers.

Mr. Squires is followed as Insurance Commissioner by Charles R. Deitrich who resided here for a number of years with his aunt, the late Mrs. Louis Barriollet.

GRAND JURY FILED O'CONNOR INDICTMENT
The grand jury of San Mateo county yesterday filed its indictment against O'Conor, charging him with attempt to commit murder and also robbery. O'Conor is being sought as an accomplice of the woman who was this week sent to San Quentin for the robbery of W. R. Brooks at Tanforan on October 21 of last year.

JURY FINDS WOMAN GUILTY OF ROBBERY

The jury in the trial of Elizabeth Sanders, also known as Georgia Bradley returned a verdict of guilty after half an hour of deliberation last Tuesday. The woman was charged with robbery and assault, charges preferred by W. R. Brooks.

The affair which caused the charges to be placed against the Sanders woman started several months ago when Brooks met her in San Francisco, where he had come from a mine which he operates in Sierra county. Brooks took the woman out to supper and bought her some clothes, later she suggested that they take a taxi ride and sent for a taxi driver.

In the course of the ride the driver steered for the unfrequented highway, near Tanforan race track, where he stopped the car and after beating the mining man on the head with a piece of pipe, took all of his money and other valuables, it is alleged, and then left him unconscious beside the road.

After Brooks had been picked up by a passing bus the next morning, he secured the arrest of the Sanders woman and the driver. They were both released on a writ of habeas corpus from the San Francisco court. The driver, named O'Conner failed to appear in court, and is now being sought by the police.

The woman was up for sentence Thursday, and in giving sentence the judge made the following statement: "The defendant was tried and convicted by a jury on Tuesday of this week of the crime of robbery and of an assault. She now moves for a new trial on the new statutory grounds. It is a miracle that she is not now before this Court on a charge of murder. The evidence presented beyond a possibility of doubt shows that she is guilty of the offense of robbery in the first degree, and the jury could not properly have brought in any other verdict. She was defended by able counsel but she had no defense except the perjured testimony she gave on the witness stand. Her aid O'Conner in the horrible and unfortunate affair apparently told the police officers the truth in this one of the most diabolical crimes ever brought before this Court and she can get no sympathy from this Court for she deserves none. The officers of San Bruno and the police department of San Francisco deserve the highest commendation for arresting this defendant within two hours after the commission of this horrible crime. The motion for a new trial is denied and the defendant is sentenced to the state prison at San Quentin for the crime of robbery in the first degree."

SAN MATEO CLUB HOLDS TUNNEL MEET
The San Mateo and Burlingame Exchange Club had a meeting in San Mateo Tuesday at which delegates from all parts of the peninsula and from San Francisco were present to discuss the proposition of tunneling the mountains between San Mateo and Halfmoon Bay.

The proposed tunnel has been one of the pet schemes of the club for some time and they have had extensive work in the way of surveying and plan making done. A similar meeting was held in Redwood City several months ago by the same club.

The tunnel if constructed would shorten the road from one side of the county to the other by a number of miles; as well as the horrible altitude. The proposition is much in favor of the coast side where the benefit to ranchers in shipping out their produce would be great.

Among those present at the San Mateo meeting Tuesday was Supervisor Schmidt of San Francisco, who pledged the aid of the big city in carrying out the club's program.

The happiest woman we ever knew was a wife who was requested by her husband to throw her household budget into the waste basket.

A BIG MAN AMONG US

TODAY in Los Angeles, Dr. David Starr Jordan, president-emeritus of Stanford University, will receive an award of $25,000 for having presented the best educational plan of educating for world peace.

Some time ago Dr. Jordan submitted his plan and then because he is always a busy man, forgot all about the matter. He was therefore greatly surprised to receive the information that his ideas had been selected from the thousands submitted. Today he will receive his reward.

His plans were simple and easy to understand. Those of us who have known Dr. Jordan for any length of time know that he is just a great big, good hearted man. He has thought of peace and good will to all men so much that it is not surprising that his ideas were the best that were submitted.

He has lived with boys and girls all of his life. Every year until he was well past sixty he went out with the faculty team at Stanford and played first base. No favors were asked and none given, but the "Doc" always gave a good account of himself.

His counsel to young men was the homely fatherly kind. He told his boys to be clean and decent.

Those who spent four or more happy years down on the "Farm" can remember him as he walked down the quad; he was always the good friend as well as the president. We are glad that this honorarium came to Dr. Jordan. So far as world's goods go, Dr. Jordan has enough to take care of affairs without worry, so unless we lose our guess he will put his prize money to work for the good of humanity.

LABOR BANK GOOD

ONCE the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers established the first labor bank in Cleveland, 29 additional labor banks have been formed, seven are in process of formation and preliminary organization steps have been taken for 60 more, according to Frederick J. Haskin, in the El Paso Herald.

When labor banks were first organized, it was predicted that their resources would be pooled and the banks would fight capital as represented by the employers of labor. Persons said the labor banks would be used to finance strikes and other industrial controversies.

As a matter of fact, nothing of the kind has happened. When a labor bank is opened, it makes itself liable to its depositors to safeguard their money and return it to them when they ask for it. This being the case, its officers are directors find that they have assumed a tremendous responsibility and that, instead of airing their own views, or following their own hobbies, they must conduct their bank along well recognized business lines which safeguard their investments and deposits.

Nothing will so quickly destroy radical ideas in the labor world as the starting of labor banks and the assuming of business responsibility by labor leaders. They soon find that a "labor" bank is not much different from a "capitalist" bank. Both banks are responsible to the law and the penitentiary waits for the man who unlawfully jeopardizes the interest of depositors in either institution.

Capital and Labor are synonymous—one cannot exist without the other.

ANOTHER MARTYR

LAST week we recorded the death of Major Edwards, the English scientist who was dying from injuries received in his studies of the X-Ray. In this connection the life and death of Professor Emile Bergonie who died a few days ago in France deserves particular mention. Professor Bergonie, like Major Edwards, gave his life in an attempt to aid others. His work was with radium, with which he worked many years in an effort to perfect a cure for cancer. In his work, however, Professor Bergonie was so much exposed to the effect of the powerful emanations of the radium that he received burns which necessitated the amputation of his fingers, his hands, his arms, and finally resulted in his death.

Major Edwards lived to see his experiments bring his X-Ray almost, we believe, to perfection. Professor Bergonie's work was cut short in its inception almost. What radium will develop into only the future will disclose. It has already overthrown long tenanted theories and may ultimately serve to explain the Great Mystery in its many ramifications. Like all advance, however, science must be built on the work of those who are willing to die that others may benefit. Such a man was Professor Bergonie.

REMEMBER THE BIRDS

REMEMBER the birds! Also remember that the same howling winds that cause you to turn up your coat collar makes it practically impossible at this time of the year for these feathered friends to obtain much food. Ground that is frozen and barren, shrubbery that is bare of berries, and bird baths and pools that are now firm ice, offer little in the way of food or drink for these associates who help save our crops and our grain and spread their song so cheerfully. Why not scatter a few bread crumbs in some sheltered spot in the yard? Why not set out a pan of water now and then? An apple or a piece of suet tied to a shrub would be welcome. You will feel amply repaid when you see the little fellows feast on your refreshments. Remember the birds!

REMINISCENCES OF 1924

LIFE'S GREATEST GIFT

A CALENDAR which we received this week had on the cover page: "Life's Greatest Gift—A Year of Time."

Some of us might argue as to what life's greatest gift is. But there is not one of us that is sure of a year of time.

That period is coming to the majority of us but ere the twelve-month has rolled on in its course there will be a number of our readers who will not be worrying anything about the troubles here.

But if the year of time is vouchsafed us I wonder if we are going to make the use of it we should. If we do not find ourselves a wee bit better in 1925 than we are now—if we are not better prepared to take care of the rainy days that may come—we have not made the use we should have made of this precious gift of a year that Time has given us.

JUDGE BUCK ORDERS SUPERVISORS TO SIGN STREET WORK CONTRACT

After ordering the chairman of the board of supervisors to sign the contract for the paving of the streets of Loma Park, Judge Buck filed a lengthy opinion stating his reasons for his action. The street work was voted upon by the residents of Loma Park and carried by a small majority. Owing to the number of protests presented to the board, however, Supervisor Thompson refused to sign the contract as chairman of the board of supervisors.

Suit was filed by the Municipal Improvement Company and was decided in favor of the company by the following opinion of the court. In offering his opinion Judge Buck characterized the streets of Loma Park as "the worst that can be found in San Mateo county."

Work on the improvement of the Loma Park streets will probably be started immediately.

The text of Judge Buck's opinion is as follows:

Municipal Improvement Co. vs. C. V. Thompson et al.
The Board of Supervisors of this county let a contract to the plaintiff herein to improve certain streets in Loma Park, this county. There being some protests against the contract, the chairman of the Board of Supervisors refused to sign it. The plaintiff then brings this suit and asks an order of the Court compelling the chairman of the Board of Supervisors to sign the contract thus awarded.

The record does not show or give any reason why the chairman refused to sign the contract regularly passed by the Board. It is a most peculiar position for the chairman to assume and in my mind wholly unwarranted. The Board of Supervisors and other parties named in the complaint have filed an answer herein and set forth as a defense that the act under which the Board let the contract herein is unconstitutional—that fraud was practiced by the plaintiff and those acting with it in procuring the passage of the contract; that the property of the taxpayers of Loma Park will be confiscated. Much testimony has been introduced in this matter and while most of it has no bearing or relevancy to the case now before the Court, yet the Court finds that there is not a word of testimony that shows or even tends to show any fraud by any of the parties connected with the matter shown on the part of any of the citizens of Loma Park. The action of everyone connected with the subject matter shows the utmost good faith. As to the act under which these proceedings were had there has been no reason presented to this Court and none appears to the Court to show that the act is unconstitutional. Loma Park is one of the most beautiful locations on the east of the road from San Francisco to San Jose. The people living there are of the best. They now have sidewalks but streets only in name. The so-called streets—if the Court could go outside of the record—are the worst that can be found in San Mateo county. It is a matter of general knowledge that any place must have good streets if the property is to have any value. Property, the evidence shows, is not of much value in Loma Park at this time and the reason for it and the only reason, is bad streets. The Court sees no confiscation of this property if these so-called streets are improved but rather the enhanced price will more than pay the costs. The question that all of this work might have been done at much less expense to the taxpayers who have to pay for it is well taken but that is a matter this Court cannot consider. The proceedings of the Board of Supervisors seem to be regular and no good reason appears to this Court to locate why the chairman of the Board of Supervisors refused to sign the contract in question. An order to that effect will be issued as prayed for.

GEO. H. BUCK, Judge.

LIQUOR ON TRUCK BRINGS STIFF SENTENCE

The discovery of 100 gallons of moon shine whiskey on a truck driven by a man who gave his name as J. Santora to the police resulted in the arrest Tuesday morning of the driver and the confiscation of the liquor. The man was taken before the court recorder, Bert Mansfield, who gave him the alternative of spending 600 days in the county jail or paying a fine of $1,000.

REMAINING BRIDGE CONTRACTS FILED WITH COUNTY RECORDER

With the filing this week of three contracts for the construction of the Dumbarton bridge by the Moore Drydock Company of San Francisco, the last of the contracts for the erection of this bridge are filed. The contracts for the construction of the concrete work on the bridge and the approaches were filed some time ago by the Healy Tibbits Construction Company of San Francisco, who are now at work on the bridge.

The later contracts call for the supplying of enormous quantities of material, and form one of the largest contracts ever filed in this county. The items covered in these contracts are as follows:

Through truss spans and towers, counterweight, shoes, castings, roadway expansion plates, arches, bolts, counterweight and lift span guide castings and steel frame for machinery house, approximately 3,940,000 pounds at 6 3/10 cents per pound.

For operating machines, rope clamps, worm wheels etc., approximately 35,000 pounds at 29 cents per pound.

Wire ropes, approximately 40,000 pounds at 26 cents per pound.

Balance chains, approximately 54,000 pounds at 8 cents per pound.

Concrete counterweights, 330 per cubic yard.

For all metal in tower, counterweights, gates, etc., approximately 560,000 pounds at 7 1/2 cents per pound.

For superstructure metal work for girder spans, approximately 1,831,000 pounds at 4 cents per pound.

For hand rails, truss bolts, etc., approximately 583,000 pounds, at 3-65-100 cents per pound.

For roadway expansion metal, 30,500 pounds at 4 1/5-100 cents per pound.

For transportation and erection of superstructure metal, approximately 2,570,500 pounds at 1-4 cents per pound.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

BY E. W. TURNER

The child labor amendment was ratified in the assembly, after an all-day debate, by a vote of 59 to 5. The senate, after a short discussion, adopted the resolution by a vote of 34 to 3, with one favorable vote absent.

Sacramento.

The ratification of federal constitutional amendment No. 20, while it by no means signifies that it has become a law, since it requires ratification by three-fourths of the states and then by three-fourths of the five which it has rejected, it is a measure of such wide import and of such importance to the whole nation that it may be wise to quote it in full here:

"Section 1: The congress shall have the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age.

"Section 2: The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article, except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by congress."

This gives to congress the complete control of children under 18 years of age and may eventually in forbidding all children under 18 to aid or assist their parents on farms or elsewhere, or those who desire to seek employment while under that age, from engaging in any labor.

Though it has commonly been said that Coolidge was elected president last November, as a matter of fact not a vote was cast for him until last Monday, and he is really only president-elect after the votes have been counted by congress on February 14.

As usual the ceremonies at the state capitol were imposing and made an excellent impression on the occasion. The legislature assembled in the midst of an audience that crowded the large auditorium, witnessed the casting of the votes by the thirteen electors that California had cast for Calvin Coolidge for president. Three copies of the record of the vote were made—one was filed with the secretary of state, another was sent to the president of the United States senate by registered mail and the third was sent to him by a special messenger—an easy and delightful job which gives the messenger 20 cents a mile for his trip both going and coming. It amounts to something over $1,200 and is the largest mileage paid any electoral messenger.

The next important matter that the legislature is to take up is the apportionment of the state into senatorial and assembly districts. As the governor pointed out in his message, this duty has been neglected at two sessions of the legislature, although the constitution clearly directs that such an apportionment shall be made after each census. The excuse so far has been that congress has not yet passed its duty under the federal constitution in apportioning the members of the house of representatives, the state need not act, but the governor has shown that one duty does not hinge on the other and that the legislature should do its duty regardless of what congress does.

The great difficulty is to comply with the provisions of the constitution of the state, that all territory shall be contiguous and that no county shall be divided unless it has two or more members of either house. The cities in California have grown so large that they, in the matter of population, outnumber the country districts, and the latter refuse to vote for any measure which will hand over the control of the state to the cities. A number of informal and important conferences have been held among the members from the "Cow counties" and they have agreed to stand together, regardless of any other measures or interests that they may have.

It is now proposed that the senate should consist of one member from each county, which would increase the membership from fifty to fifty-two, and that the assembly be apportioned on the basis of population, which would give its control into the hands of the cities, with Los Angeles having the largest representation.

To carry out the plan, however, would require an amendment to the state constitution, but it is thought that the governor might be willing to agree to a special election to submit the question to the people. If such an agreement can be reached and a special election can be held, it would enable the voters at the election next year to elect the legislature of 1927 on the new basis.

Some interesting facts have been revealed by the state parole officer concerning men on parole from California state prisons. Of the 1,897 of these in the state, only 4% per cent committed new crimes and had to be returned to the penitentiary during November. Of the prison population of 9,517, 80% per cent are paid to be out on parole. Of these, 16% per cent violated their paroles by either getting drunk, failing to report regularly to the authorities, or neglecting to tell the parole office when they quit their jobs.

Buy Coffins in Advance

United States authorities recently admitted into the country a personal property a very handsome coffin brought here by a woman from Europe who, fearing death while here, wanted to be buried in a casket of her own choosing. This fact caused undertakers to reveal the fact that hundreds of eccentric persons, mostly women, had picked out their coffins in advance and they were stored awaiting call. Some are of ivory, some of cast iron and others of rarest timbers.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

William Long, familiarly known as Bill, a character in these parts for more than a half century, passed away at the Community hospital last Sunday evening. That afternoon he was found unconscious in his quarters at the Lynch Nurseries, where he had been employed for several years past. He was removed to the hospital, where he passed away shortly afterwards. The remains were interred in Union cemetery on Tuesday.

Bill came into the world in obscurity and poverty and passed on in almost the same manner. As near as can be learned Bill was born in San Francisco about 67 years ago, his mother dying when he was an infant. Little is known of his father. Bill was left to paddle his own canoe as best he could at a very tender age. As a little waltz from no where, he landed in Redwood City, finding shelter under the roof of Billy Birch, a rancher in the foothills, back of Redwood City. Birch was a severe task master and Bill's tender years were not considered by him, he must work. Bill could not endure the struggle, so one cold and wintry night with his only earthly possession, a thin cotton blanket, he ran away from the toil of the farm to Redwood City, seeking food and shelter at Five Points, the southern part of the town, then the headquarters for a rough element. Saloons were at full blast. The peninsula was then practically one vast wheat field, no towns dotted the landscape as they do now. Farm hands would come to Five Points to spend their hard-earned money in riotous living, until their purses became empty and then they would seek the fields again. Surrounded by this atmosphere in this environment Bill grew to manhood.

He was a perfect specimen of genius home, tall, straight as an Indian, and a tower of strength. He was an expert teamster. For years Bill drove an eight-horse team with a jerk line from the summit of the mountains to Redwood City daily hauling lumber from the mills. These were the days of the lumber camps in San Mateo county. Bill's services were always sought after on account of his experience as a teamster. He never was without employment. When the lumber mills closed, Bill remained around Redwood City for a time and in the early eighties came to Menlo Park, where he found a safe anchorage, until his demise.

Bill was the victim of circumstances over which he had absolutely no control. A mother's love and care he did not have. He did not hear the sweet words of prayer at his mother's knee, those prayers so learned that have been the inspiration of men down the ages. The prayers taught Abraham Lincoln on the lap of his mother, Nancy Hanks, shaped his destiny, and were an inspiration to him in his great work. Bill possessed the tenderness of a child, was honest, faithful and trustworthy. He was honest in his work, never shirking his duty. His employers always felt secure when Bill was on the job knowing that their interests would be taken care of properly.

Soft and sweet will be his sleep until the judgment day when God will sound his trumpet, calling the dead to life. On the right will be arrayed the just, while on the left will stand the wicked. We hope that in the van guard of the line on the right may be seen the stalwart form of Bill marching on to the pearly gates, and as he enters the portals he will find in heaven no class distinction, he will learn that he will be the equal of those who may have shunned him on earth on account of social inequality. He will discover that being poor on earth was no crime but rather a commendation to honors above. The accident of birth counts but little with the final judge. In the motley crowd on the left may be seen men who received all the advantages of early training of which Bill was deprived but who did not benefit by such training and plunged head long into the abyss.

Last Wednesday in the Star of the Sea church, San Francisco, Augustine McCollough was united in marriage to Miss Myrtle Keck by Monsignor Iyan. The bride is a winsome and pretty school teacher of the San Francisco school department, while Mr. McCollough is one of the leading salesmen with the William Cluff Company. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Sixty guests were present, among was Mrs. A. Gale of this place, Perry Cumber, son, head of the Cluff Company, spoke in glowing terms of the business ability of young McCollough and predicted a big future for him in the business world. The McColloughs are old Menlo Park residents, having lived here some years ago. All the members have become prominent in the affairs of the metropolis. Two of the boys, Matt and Christopher have become well-known attorneys, while the other boys are holding positions of trust. The two girls, some years ago, became nuns. The success of the family is due to the good example and earnest work of the mother, Mrs. McCollough, who suffered many hardships and tribulations in rearing her sons and daughters. She constantly taught them their duty to their state and nation, always urging them to become honored citizens. Mrs. McCollough deserves a crown of glory for her noble work. The only regret is that there are not more mothers like her. Her type is diminishing in numbers rapidly.

On Wednesday last a very pretty wedding took place in Mount Carmel church, Redwood City, when Miss Una Chapin, a very charming and unusually attractive girl and daughter of Mrs. Amy Chapin and the late Doctor J. E. Chapin, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Arnold Van Epern by Father Kennedy, pastor of the church. The happy couple reside in Menlo Park and after the ceremony here the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's mother here, where the wedding breakfast was served. Ruth Chapin, the sweet and fascinating sister of the bride, was the matron of honor while John Jensen attended the groom. Mr. Van Epern and Jensen came across the continent in an automobile from their home in Wisconsin over a year ago and becoming charmed with this locality they decided to cast their lot in Menlo Park and here the romance of the young caser and Miss Chapin had its inception and here it happily culminated in the wedding on Wednesday last. The young couple departed south in the touring car of Mr. Van Epern. Before starting some local was painted on the back of the machine the words "Just Married," while another tied a bell under the car. A shower of rice and good wishes followed the pair to the machine and as they whisked away the bell began to sound but no stop was made until Santa Clara county was reached when the noisy bell was removed. Whether the sign on the back of the car was seen or not history will not relate. The young couple will be home to their friends in Menlo Park next week. They will make their home here. Mr. Van Epern is a trusted employee of David Flynn, the automobile agent of Redwood City. The pretty bride is one of the best known young ladies on the peninsula.

Duck season closed on Thursday after a very successful shooting period of two and a half months. Some good bags were secured particularly on the preserves. Joe Cull carried off the honors by killing more birds than any other local hunter. He is one of the owners of the preserves near Mountain view.

The sale of real estate in and around Ravenswood was given an impetus by the starting of construction of Dumbarton bridge. This week eastern factory owners were looking around there for factory sites and it is said several tracts of real estate were tied up by options.

Yesterday St. Joseph's school rendered a nice program in honor of a visit from the Reverend Mother Blythe, the new superioress of Sacred Heart University, who came here from Chicago recently, taking the place of Reverend Mother General. The youngsters gave a good account of themselves showing the result of their rehearsals. The Reverend Mother spoke encouragingly to the school advising constant diligence and obedience to the teachers. The Reverend Mother was here two years ago.

The Parent-Teacher Association is arranging to give a Father's Night on Friday evening, January 30, in the auditorium of the grammar school. A committee of ten pretty girls has been selected to attend to the refreshments.

Mark A. McCann, the realty broker, has sold for a client fifty acres of land on Santa Cruz avenue to a San Francisco business man.

At a meeting of the newly formed realty association of this vicinity last Wednesday evening in the rooms of the chamber of commerce, reports were received from committees and the organization of the association was completed.

ACTS OF HEROISM BY TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES
Many thrilling adventures, gone through in the interest of public service, ranging from pulling a rowboat "against the stubborn current" of a stream upon which floated a sheet of blazing gasoline in order to repair important telephone cables to a daring rescue from a live wire in mid-air, are recorded in citations accompanying awards of gold and silver Theodore N. Vail medals.

According to the announcement, the Gold Medal award and $500 were given to C. E. Rider, station installer of Guthrie, Oklahoma, who braved death in helping to repair telephone cables broken by the collapse of a bridge over the Cimarron river, caused by the derailment of tank cars which caught fire and transformed the stream to a blazing inferno. Silver medals and cash awards of $250 were given to C. N. Wolever, senior central office man, Pittston, Pennsylvania, and Muriel A. Crulshank, who although surrounded by flames rapidly consuming the exchange, kept telephone communication open from the town of Wyoming and summoned aid during a disastrous fire.

L. G. Gauthier, cable splicer's helper, Shreveport, Louisiana, won the silver medal and cash award by rescuing a comrade from a manhole set ablaze by a bolt of lightning. G. H. Mann, cableman, Phoenix, Arizona, received the same award for rescuing a comrade from a live wire which held him helpless at the top of a twenty-foot pole.

Mrs. M. E. Hadley, substitute of Snyder, Oklahoma, stuck to her post during a disaster in which her husband was supposed to have been buried alive. The city well, in the course of construction, in which her husband was working, collapsed and he alone of four workmen was saved.

Miss Alice C. Tillinghast, Agent, Housatonic, Mass., summoned aid during a great fire on her own initiative, in the dead of night and, in addition, personally saved valuable records from the flames. Both of these women were given silver medals and cash awards.

MEIGHAN SUPPORTED BY "TONGUES OF FLAME"

Bessie Love, Eileen Percy Play Opposite Star in Paramount Film

Supporting Thomas Meighan in his latest Paramount picture, "Tongues of Flame," produced by Joseph Henabery from the last novel by the late Peter Clark McFarlane, is one of the finest casts that have ever appeared with the popular star.

The picture, which was adapted for the screen by Townsend Martin, includes Bessie Love and Eileen Percy in the principal female roles.

Meighan is cast as a pretty Indian girl school teacher while Miss Percy has the role of the daughter of the village capitalist in the town where Tom, as Henry Harrington, has his little law office.

Others in prominent roles in the production which will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway next Monday and Tuesday, January 19 and 20, are Leslie Stowe, Nick Thompson, Little Jerry Devine, Kate Mayberry and Cyril Ring.

"Tongues of Flame" has to do with a tight-fisted capitalist who enlists Meighan's aid to unknown to him, swindle a tribe of neighboring Indians out of their valuable reservation. When Tom realizes what is going on he quickly turns against his employer.

A THOUGHT OR TWO

Gathered Here and There

A man's mind is likened to a garden, which may be intelligently cultivated or let run wild.

Thoughts form character.

Good thoughts and actions can never produce bad results.

A man only begins to be a man when he ceases to whine and revile.

Clean thoughts make clean habits.

Law, not confusion is the dominating principle in the universe.

MEIGHAN SUPPORTED BY "TONGUES OF FLAME"

Bessie Love, Eileen Percy Play Opposite Star in Paramount Film

Supporting Thomas Meighan in his latest Paramount picture, "Tongues of Flame," produced by Joseph Henabery from the last novel by the late Peter Clark McFarlane, is one of the finest casts that have ever appeared with the popular star.

The picture, which was adapted for the screen by Townsend Martin, includes Bessie Love and Eileen Percy in the principal female roles.

Meighan is cast as a pretty Indian girl school teacher while Miss Percy has the role of the daughter of the village capitalist in the town where Tom, as Henry Harrington, has his little law office.

Others in prominent roles in the production which will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway next Monday and Tuesday, January 19 and 20, are Leslie Stowe, Nick Thompson, Little Jerry Devine, Kate Mayberry and Cyril Ring.

"Tongues of Flame" has to do with a tight-fisted capitalist who enlists Meighan's aid to unknown to him, swindle a tribe of neighboring Indians out of their valuable reservation. When Tom realizes what is going on he quickly turns against his employer.

FAILED TO SUPPORT WIFE: IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Charging that although her husband, Milton Kottinger, was earning good wages as an employee of the People's Bakery in San Francisco, he failed to contribute anything to her support, Mrs. Edna Kottinger this week filed suit for divorce through her attorney, James T. O'Keefe.

The Kottingers were married May 10, 1919, in San Francisco and lived at Daly City. It was here that Kottinger is alleged to have deserted his wife on June 30 of last year, leaving her penniless.

There is community property consisting of three lots at Daly City. They have no children.

When you pray, "Lead us not into temptation," you are expected to co-operate to the extent of not putting yourself in the way of being led.

James Cruze produced "Merton," originally a novel by Harry Leon Wilson and one of the story hits of recent years.

There is a strong supporting cast in "Merton of the Movies," which will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway next Wednesday and Thursday, January 21 and 22.
